The author rightly says that "Communism is an important force in our modern world" (p. 2), and "the (great) October (Socialist) Revolution (of 1917) is decidedly a great event in the history of Europe". (p. 66)

The objective of the book has been defined as to analyse and criticise communism and to prove the supremacy of Islam, the only force which can check the rapid and thumping march of Communism. But a force can be checked only by a counter-force. Communism is the much-criticized phenomenon of the modern world but the guns of bombastic words shot at the cavalry of Communism cannot thwart its triumphant advance.

The book is a praise-worthy criticism on Communism as well as on Capitalism. The author is fully conversant with the system of socio-economic justice of Islam and by analysing the assumptions and the principles of Communism he has succeeded to prove the supremacy of Islam (i.e. system). The greatest merit of the book is its precision and comprehension.
